

Sprint 3 Report

Product Name: Canvas To Calendar

Team Name: Kirb Squad

Sprint Completion Date: 05/23/2023

Actions

- Stop Doing

We should stop having two or more members trying to implement the same task. It is wasted effort for both the member who's implementation wasn't used and the overall project, as that member could have contributed toward something else. It also brings needless competition amongst each other.

We should also stop trying to finish our implementations at the last minute. This is bad practice and can lead to bad code quality since a lot of it wouldn't be tested.

- Start Doing

The team should start communicating with each other about their needs or work schedule (midterms, other classes, etc.)

We should start looking into the product backlog to see which tasks we want to implement now that we are entering Sprint 4.

We should start creating schedules when we want 'x' task to be finished by. This provides better structure and helps with accountability. This can be done by listing out small parts of the feature to be done by 'x' day/time and this can improve productivity.

- Keep Doing

We should maintain our work output. Lately the team has stepped up and have been producing good results.

We should continue getting together and working on our individual task, in the hopes of each member starting their task and will continue working on it.

We should continue giving consistent status updates on tasks that we are working on so as a group we know exactly in what direction we're going.
